Young Register Farmer Boasts Fancy Pigs

George Thomas Holloway can boast of one of the best hogs in the Bulloch county. The nine piglets in this litter are approximately three and a half months old and weigh an average of 90 pounds.

The feed cost of this litter to date is about $25. Valuing the whole litter at $55, this leaves a good margin of profit if they were sold now. However, George Thomas plans to enter these in the Bulloch county Future Farmers ton-litter show which will be held September 8.

This litter of pigs is being grown on a sanitary plan to control intestinal parasites. Ample grazing is being provided and a balanced feed program followed.

George Thomas is a student of vocational agriculture in Register High School. Other enterprises in his project program for this year are two acres of corn, two and a half acres of cotton and grazing crops, as millet, oats and potatoes.

Breath Bad, Lousy?

You May Need This

Just as the lighthouse flashes a friendly warning to sailors, so Nature sends out headaches, bad breath, biliousness, which often warn of constipation.

Too many misunderstand or neglect those symptoms and thereby may invite a host of constipation's other discomforts: sour stomach, belching, loss of appetite or energy.

Be wise. Take spicy, all vegetable BLACK-DRUGHT tonight by simple directions and clear your bowels gently, promptly, thoroughly. Its long life and popularity testify to BLACK-DRUGHT's merit.

ALUMNI EXPECTED TO VISIT CAMPUS

Plans have been made to give alumni a royal welcome when they visit the campus during graduation week for a new "get-together" day, Friday, June 9, according to Mrs. Henry J. McCormack, president of the organization.

The campus alumni will entertain with a picnic lunch on Friday, June 9, at noon in honor of the visiting alumni and the present senior class. The alumni will be guests in the college dining hall Friday night. There will be a formal dance in the Gymnasium honoring the alumni and visitors, according to Mrs. McCormack.

Following is a letter written by Mrs. McCormack to the alumni:

Dear Alumni:

We are looking forward to your visit at commencement. You will be interested to know that there are one hundred and eight in the graduating class. There are several new buildings which you will enjoy seeing. The greatest pleasure will be the fellowship which we all shall enjoy.

Number and new buildings will not make our Alma Mater a successful school. The students and graduates, with their enthusiasm and loyal spirit, are the ones who will help make to make T. C. the college of which we shall always be proud.

Please look at the program for the alumni and remember the time and date. I'm sure you will want to help make this year's "get-together" the biggest and best ever.

Loyalty yours,

MRS. HENRY MCCORMACK, President.

FRIED CHICKEN OR FEVER?

This is another dissertation on relativity. It asks and answers the question of relationship between cats and longevity — between fried chicken and fever. Maybe you will close your eyes and refuse to acknowledge the necessity to decide this point, and maybe you will declare that there is no relationship, but wait till you have read this through.

At a health conference in the community house recently four skilled health experts talked about the prevalence of Brill's fever. (Known as typhus among the medical fraternity as typhus.) One of the speakers stated it as a proven fact that there is an intimate relationship between rats and typhus. He said that, following a campaign several years ago which was state-wide for the extermination of rats, statistics revealed that the number of fever cases was conspicuously lower. He explained that rats harbor fleas, and that these are direct carriers of typhus. His point was well-taken — on rats had rid the country of Brill's fever. We like the point.

Last week the lady of the house discovered that a malicious feline (she called it a cat) had eaten the last of a hatching of forty odd chickens intended for table use. She called the police and asked what to do. The officer told her the wisest thing was to kill the cat. What followed was inevitable — cats almost ran themselves to death to escape the flying shot for several days, and a number of them actually fell before the crack of the trusty fowling piece in the hands of an expert. So far as was apparent on casual examination, they were all peace-loving cats, and innocent of any wrong doing — but they had been in hand company. (Incidentally men themselves must sometimes suffer for the company they keep!) Not one of the cats, so far as we are aware, had ever seen a chicken. They had probably been living on rats. That is a reasonable assumption — and it is the cause for this more or less scholarly treatise. Supposing every cat in the course of his night prowling habits had devoured one rat; then had each cat made a substantial scientific contribution to the control of typhus? The health expert would say that he did. And with a dozen or more cats turning their toes to the daisies, and rats being permitted to run at will and carry their fleas about, it is going far to visualize the connection between the death of the cats and the propagation of fever? We believe you will see the point.

READERS INCREASE AMONG FARMERS

Recent Survey Reveals More Than 7 Out of 10 Farmers Take Newspapers

Washington, D. C., May 29.—The lure of radio, movies, and automobiles has not taken the farmers' time away from their newspapers. On the contrary, farmers take and read more newspapers today than they did ten years ago. This was revealed today in a survey made by The National Fertilizer Association on the sources of information which the farmer uses and the farming practices which he employs. The survey reports that more than seven out of ten farmers (72 per cent) read newspapers today. In 1929 there were only two states in which more than nine out of ten farmers took a paper. This year's poll reveals ten states in which newspapers are read by more than ninety per cent of the farmers. These ten states are in order of their percentages: Washington, Oregon, California, Indiana, Ohio, Connecticut, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Illinois.

The questions on reading habits of farmers are two of the twenty-five questions which 600 interviewers personally asked. Others were: "Do you listen regularly to farm radio programs?" "Have you obtained information from the radio?" "What farm papers do you read in order of preference?" "Have you attended meetings or demonstrations conducted by your county agent?" "Have you visited your state experiment station, or experiment farms and fields?" "Do you get practical value from meetings or demonstrations attended?" Tabulations of the answers to these questions are in progress and results will be given out as fast as they are completed.

The gain in farmer-readers of newspapers is credited to the fact that farmers of the past decade have been forced to keep up with better farming methods, and also with local and national political situations, and that the newspapers have kept pace with the demand of farmers for timely and accurate information which they must have in order to conduct their businesses.

COTTON GROWERS GIVEN MORE TIME

Washington Authorities Extend Limit for Buying Cotton Pool Certificates.

The time limit set by the cotton producers' pool for purchasing outstanding participation trust certificates has been extended to September 30, 1939, according to a notice received by County Agent Byron Dyer from J. O. Lankin, pool manager, in Washington, D. C.

The extension was authorized by a recent amendment to the legislation under which the certificates are being retired. This means that any persons in Bulloch county having form C-51 certificates on hand will have additional time in which to tender them to the pool. Under certain conditions they will be entitled to a payment of $1 per bale for the number of bales represented by such certificates. The form C-51 certificates are brown in color and are the last certificates issued. Plans are now being made for final liquidation of the pool when the time for purchase of the outstanding certificates expires.

Original holders of the certificates and transferees holders of record on or before May 1, 1937, will get $1 per bale on the number of bales represented by their brown certificates. Holders to whom certificates have been transferred since May 1, 1937, will receive the price which they paid for their certificates with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum from the date of purchase, the total amount including interest not to exceed $1 per bale.

In tendering a brown certificate to the pool, the holder should make out a form that will be supplied by the county agent and mail the certificate, attached to the form, to the Examination and Claims Section, Cotton Producers' Pool, Room 321, Old Post Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Nip and Tuck Are Thrifty Pair of Pigs

Nip and Tuck are two pigs now spending their time on the campus at Register school. These pigs are property of the Register FFA chapter and are being grown out to demonstrate the value of feeding a supplementary feed along with corn to hogs.

When this test began 42 days ago Nip weighed 37 lbs. Since that time he has been in a pen on the west side of the school campus and fed all the corn he could eat. During these 42 days he has gained 32 lbs. and now weighs 69 lbs. He has consumed 124 lbs. of corn.

Tuck was placed in a pen of exactly the same kind, and weighed 61 lbs. when the test began. During the 42 days he has gained 84 lbs., or an average of 2 lbs. per day, and now weighs 145 lbs. He has consumed 222 lbs. of corn, and in addition to this 44 lbs. of Purina hog chow. Both of these pigs have had access to a mineral mixture.

Valuing their gain at 64 cents per lb. and after deducting cost of feed, the net return for Nip to date is exactly $1. During this same time Tuck has earned $7.65.

A cordial invitation is extended by the Register FFA chapter to every one interested to visit these pigs. If you have not seen Nip and Tuck, be sure to do so.

Register Canning Plant in Operation

Register canning plant, under the supervision of O. E. Gay, teacher of vocational agriculture, is now open to any one in the community wishing to use it for canning their products. Approximately the same set-up for canning will be used as has been customary the past seasons. Days set for canning are Tuesdays and Thursdays at the plant for approximately three and four cents for No. 2 and No. 3 cans, respectively. A toll of one-tenth of the products canned, or a charge of one cent per can, will be made to those canning, to be used for the general upkeep.

These canning should bring a small amount of fuel for firing the furnace, and sufficient labor for preparing, packing, sealing and cooking products.

FACTS FAVOR FORD

1 The 1939 Ford V-8 is a beautiful, modern motor car. Its 85-horsepower engine gives you economical, well-balanced performance over the entire speed range—and the 60-horsepower engine is even more economical.

2 The structural strength of the Ford car—frame, bracing, axles, body—makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.

3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.

4 The Ford car is stabilized for comfortable riding. Its springbase, the distance between front and rear suspension, is 123 inches. Seats are toward the center, perfectly balanced. The car does not bob or dip and can have very little sway.

These four points—power, strength, safety, comfort—are by far the most important essentials in any motor car. They form the basic value of your investment.

With this solid foundation to build on, the Ford V-8 has been made beautiful, spacious, easy to drive. It is richly upholstered and has all the modern features which add to the luxury and pleasure of motoring.

You can see these things when you take a trial drive, but do not forget that the main value is in the things you do not readily see—quality of materials, precision of manufacture, fundamental engineering.
